“ Mom I miss you and still cannot believe you weren't meant to be with us longer. I'll try to call dad tonight as I'm sure he's feeling the sting of loneliness. I know we'll be together again someday. Our shared Oct 14 birthday might be tough this year in particular.

“ Grandma, I love you so much. I am so so sad that you are not here anymore. I know that you are so much healthier now, and I am thankful for that. But it is hard to know you aren't going to be here to give your amazing words of wisdom anymore. I have learned so much from you in my 20 years of life. And Noah, my husband, is so glad he was able to know you too. I've been so blessed by you. I will never forget your trips to Tennessee, your coffee cake on Sunday afternoon, and your blue bunny ice cream after dinner. I'll never forget us setting the green plaid cloth table napkins for family dinners. Your kind words. Your laugh. Your smile. Your warm hugs. Your love for your kitties. I love you. We love you. And I miss you, so so much.
