I met Darran in school. We were an unlikely pair. He was most likely to get into a little trouble and I was the side kick who tried with all my might to talk him out of it, and went to visit him when he was “grounded.” My job kept us apart for long stretches of time but we always picked up like it was just yesterday. He was more my brother than a friend. He didn’t ever judge me or criticize me. He was straight with me. And I was straight with him. We shared the ups and downs. No one was happier for me when I found my wife. He and Rhonda came to our small wedding with bells on. They were family to my wife when I moved her here away from her own family in Tennessee and she didn’t have one. They showed up to my step son’s graduation to support my son and my wife on a very emotional day because that’s Darran and Rhonda. There’s no way I could ever repay the kindness and love My Brother showed me over 45 some odd years... what a life he lived. So many lives he touched... To live up each day; REALLY LIVE is the key and he knew that. You knew he loved you because he said it. He showed it. A real man does that. Every day. He is always going to be one of my heroes. I am so grateful my wife got to know him a little. I only wish there had been more time and we had grown old together...couples with grandkids hanging out telling stories and laughing...He always said “Love y’all”. And he meant it. Darran, we love you. We love Rhonda and the whole family. Anything they need...all they need to do is ask.💕💕

“ To the family, I’m not sure where to begin. Darran was a force in my life. I sat very near him in meetings, in a group I believe he loved and brought him peace, and I’m so honored to have been a part of that. His words, his experiences, his support were so significant to me. The very last time I had the pleasure to talk with him, he made a huge contribution to our group in order to “pay it forward” for our group so that others could hopefully benefit and love the group as he did. He was such a generous, honest, caring and sharing person. He was before, and forever will be, someone I carry in my heart, a role model, a leader of how to really live your life. My heart has broken at the loss. He is, and will be, missed so very much. May his family be blessed with peace knowing he cherished each and every one of you, and he will always be remembered and treasured by all those whose life he touched.

“ Lisa and I met Darran when we first moved to Centralia almost 14 yrs ago. Lisa was intrigued that her maiden name was the same and thought they may have been distant relatives. We became friends and his customers until his passing. His smile and sense of humor will be greatly missed. Rest in Peace. Our condolences to the family. Don and Lisa Hughes
