He was proud to be an alumnus of Centralia Township High School Class of 1969 and the University of Illinois. After attending the U of I, John helped his father at Raines Furniture. Later, John started working side by side with Cathy at the WILY/WRXX Radio Station. In September of 1988, John and Cathy started the Shoppers Weekly in Centralia and it became the largest weekly paper in Southern Illinois for 36 years. John's dedication to his community was evident through his exemplary service on the Centralia City Council from 1999 to 2003 and as the Mayor of Centralia from 2003 to 2007. Over the years he contributed significantly to various committees and projects including the Historic Preservation Committee, Downtown Redevelopment Committee, Centralia Area Housing Task Force, and the Locust Street Fair, among others. Known for his passion for the Centralia Balloon Fest, he created the High Fly Annual Award and Tip of the Hat Award to honor outstanding community contributions. John lived a life rich in love, public service, and community involvement, and was also a founding member of Band Aide. He was an animal activist alongside his wife, Cathy. John championed numerous causes with an open heart, demonstrating his boundless capacity for love and compassion towards all living beings. His passion extended to being an esteemed member of the Save Murray Coalition and one of the founding members of the Centralia Area Historical Museum. He was known as Mr. Centralia. His legacy of kindness, dedication, and service will forever be remembered by those whose lives he touched. His memory will live on in the hearts of his family and friends, and in the community he tirelessly served and loved.

“ John and I met playing brass in the grade school band. He was a good person and very involved in Centralia activities. For me one of the best was helping preserve the Orphans stain glass masterpiece. He was thoughtful, helpful and kind. You have my good thoughts and prayers in this difficult time.

“ John and Cathy were my neighbors across the street when they lived on West Broadway.
25 years ago my youngest son pulled a crock pot of hot liquid over on him and we had to take him to Children’s Hospital in St. Louis. I stayed with the baby and John came across the street and gave my husband Joe some cash to help me out the nine days I stayed there.
He and Cathy were some of the sweetest people we ever met.
May he rest in peace and Cathy my heart hurts for you.
I live in Arizona now but I still think of the kindness you and John showed us as neighbors.
God bless you💕💕
