“ Brother you know I love you I always told you so. Save me a place if it is peaceful. I don't want to shovel coal. You and I shared so many experiences so many things so many things I couldn't repeat to others.....they wouldn't believe me anyway. I will always think of you and I pray you think of me too. Love you brother.....Dean

“ Very sad to learn of this, I met Marvin at the age of 18 shortly after opening my auto dealership, he taught me many things about the car business (The Best Teacher I Ever Had In Buying & Selling Automobiles) One thing that has stuck with me over all these years was me asking the question at a very young age of 18. "Marvin can you tell me some good lies you tell people to get them to buy cars? His answer Steve you never want to lie to anyone about anything in life, I then asked why he said this way you never have to remember what you said." Marvin is one man I will never forget and I always enjoyed our conversations, seemed like it was always hard for us to walk away once we start talking, he always had something interesting to say. Many prayers to his family.

“ I hope you will remember me & my husband, John Wheelan. When I saw Marvin's obit in the paper, it brought back so many good & funny memories. I lost John 19 years ago so I do know the pain, huge sense of loss & loneliness. My wish for all of you is that you grieve well so that you can be truly happy again. Marvin was truly one of a kind!!!
