“ We’ve lost our loved one, “WaWa,” dear Lord. We thought we would be prepared, but how could we possibly be ready for something like this? It all seems so final. No more chances to share our feelings and retrieve the time, to do and say the things undone. Our heart aches. Yet at the same time, we feel Your comforting presence near. How we praise You for comfort and strength in our time of grief. Little by little, layer by layer, You are healing our heart and souls. We praise You for surrounding us with Your warm, constant presence that helps fill the void within us. Thank You, Lord, for reminding us in Your Word about life everlasting. Because we know our dear one loved You, all isn’t final. There is life beyond death where no sadness or pain exists, a life that lasts forever. Someday You will wipe away all our tears. There will be no need of a moon or stars or sun, because of Your glorious light. There will be no sickness or pain, no sin or hurt feelings. All of this will be gone, never to return! Even though we have tears and heartache now, we thank You for Your promise that joy will come in the morning. We realize now You are showing us it isn’t our loved one we’re weeping for. It’s us. Thank You, God, for Your comfort. We look forward to joining You in heaven someday and being with our loved one, “WaWa” again. In the meantime, we know we have more to do for You here, Lord, so we will keep going on. We will serve and praise You with all our hearts..... WaWa, I miss you like crazy, I miss you like crazy, every hour of every day, I miss you like crazy, I miss you sweetheart.
